IELTS® PREPARATION

COURSE OVERVIEW

The IELTS Preparation Program is a twelve week course designed to develop the specific language skills of students preparing to take the IELTS examination.

This course provides practical guidance in the development and application of linguistic skills relevant to IELTS examination requirements including vocabulary, grammar, text production and analysis, and listening and speaking.

Students undertaking the part-time IELTS course may choose to attend between 2 to 4 days or nights per week and therefore select specific skills on which they wish to focus. Alternatively this course would suit students who are working or studying other full-time courses and wish to polish their skills to undertake the IELTS test for work or permanent residency requirements. The part-time course is not available as the primary course of study for student visa holders.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

- To adapt general English competencies to the specific requirements of the IELTS examination
- To develop the necessary linguistic skills to ensure success in the IELTS examination
- To provide an integrated approach to the development of relevant competencies
- To cultivate analytical skills by investigating a range of authentic and teacher generated texts
- To practice IELTS exam-taking skills
